RICHMOND — The State Council of Higher Education for Virginia (SCHEV) will hold its regularly scheduled Council meetings, as well as a joint meeting with the Council of Presidents, next week at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

The Council's Academic Affairs, and Resources and Planning committees will meet Monday, September 19 from 1:00 p.m. - 2:45 p.m. The joint meeting with the Council of Presidents will take place from 3:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. The full Council will convene for its regular meeting at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, September 20. James Ryan, president of the University of Virginia, will present remarks.

Topics include actions on a private postsecondary institution provisional certification and the 2023 meeting schedule and locations. In addition, Council will discuss out-of-state distance education certifications; program announcements from public institutions; a new framework for transfer associate degree programs at Virginia's community colleges; FY 2024 budget and policy recommendations; cost and funding needs study; student enrollment trends; six-year plans; priority initiatives supporting the statewide strategic plan, Pathways to Opportunity; and remote participation bylaws change. Also, Heather McKay and Todd Oldham from the Virginia Office of Education Economics (VOEE), will provide an update.
